Philip JACOBS

I live in Whakatane having returned in 2004 to look after my elderly parents. Since 2004 I have had significant engagement with BOP health services with respect to my parent's medical needs. I worked in Australia in the financial Services industry between 1980 and 2004. during this time I played key change management roles in three major Financial services acquisitions and mergers. I am currently a self-employed information systems consultant and the proprietor of an internet-based retail business. I hold a Bachelor of commerce degree in accounting and a Master of business Administration degree in information systems, organisational change, services management and business strategy. As a member of BOPDHB I wish to contribute my business management and health services experience to improving health outcomes across the range of stakeholders, including stakeholder groups with special needs (e.g. migrants with different cultural backgrounds).
